Introduction

EPOS, European Plate Observing System (www.epos-eu.org) is a distributed research infrastructure committed to enabling excellent science through the integration, accessibility, use and re-use of solid Earth science data, research products and services, as well as by promoting physical access to research facilities. EPOS brings together solid Earth scientists, national research infrastructures, ICT experts and decision makers to establish and underpin sustainable and long-term access to solid Earth science data and services, integrating diverse European Research Infrastructures under a common federated framework. EPOS relies on Open Science innovation with the goal of developing new concepts and tools to provide accurate, durable, and sustainable answers to societal questions concerning geo-hazards and those geodynamic phenomena (including geo-resources) relevant to the environment and human welfare.

The EPOS vision is to ensure sustainable and universal use and reuse of multidisciplinary solid Earth science data and products fostering state-of-the-art research and innovation.

The EPOS mission is to establish and underpin sustainable and long-term access to solid Earth science data and services integrating diverse European Research Infrastructures under a common federated framework.

On October 30th, 2018, the European Commission granted EPOS the legal status of the European Research Infrastructure Consortium (ERIC). The ERIC legal framework provides EPOS with legal status recognised in all EU Member States and with the flexibility to adapt to the specific requirements of each infrastructure. Under this European framework, the EPOS ERIC Gender Equality Plan (GEP) commits to the European Strategy for Gender Equality 2020-2025 and the introduction of the GEP eligibility criterion for Horizon Europe participating organisations and considers goals, actions and resources dedicated to improving gender equality within the organisation and to promote gender equality within the whole EPOS Community.

The EPOS ERIC GEP has been tailored having regard to the EPOS mission and vision, history, and wider context, taking into consideration the results of an internal survey aimed at measuring experiences and perceptions of gender equality in EPOS ERIC (Annex 1). The EPOS ERIC GEP is seen to be a dynamic document that will be monitored and updated if needed, on an annual basis.

The EPOS ERIC GEP complies with the requirements set by the European Commission since it:

- 1) is a public document signed-off by the top management;
- 2) foresees dedicated resources for its monitoring and implementation;
- 3) includes data collection and monitoring processes;
- 4) involves training.

Action Plan

Overview of the goals and action plan

The EPOS ERIC GEP relies on the following goals as recommended in the Horizon Europe guidance on gender equality plans:

- Goal 1: Work-life balance and organisational culture.
- Goal 2: Gender balance in leadership, decision-making and executive bodies.
- Goal 3: Gender equality in recruitment and career progression.
- Goal 4: Integrating the gender dimension into research content.
- Goal 5: Measures against gender-based violence, including sexual harassment.

For each goal, a dedicated table outlines the following aspects:

- a. Number corresponding to the objective (No).
- b. Objectives per each main goal, describing what needs to be achieved (Objective).
- c. Actions to attain the objective (Measure).
- d. Individuals or groups for whom these actions are intended (Target).
- e. Criteria and metrics employed to assess progress and verify the status of each measure (Indicator).
- f. External factors may influence the desired outcomes which do not directly depend on EPOS ERIC (Dependencies).
- g. EPOS ERIC Unit or individuals responsible for the execution of the measure (Responsibility).
- h. The start and end dates for the implementation of each measure (Timeline).
- i. The current state of each measure, evaluated by the end of the year. It includes details on the level of completion (Status).

Human resources from the Executive Coordination Office (ECO) are assigned annually for the data collection, monitoring, and implementation of the EPOS ERIC Gender Equality Plan.

1. Monitoring and Evaluation

With the EPOS ERIC Gender Equality Plan, EPOS ERIC is creating the structure and process to monitor progress towards gender equality in connection with all the above-mentioned goals focusing particularly on the changes required to promote future developments involving equality, diversity, inclusiveness and non-discrimination principles.

To identify emerging challenges pertaining to gender equality, an annual review of the status of the proposed measures will be conducted. If required, surveys may be initiated. The statistics of personnel of different genders, the number and gender of people applying for different positions, as well as the composition of boards, committees and working groups in terms of gender balance and inclusiveness will be collected, as applicable. Furthermore, where feasible, all the events organised by EPOS ERIC will aim to achieve gender equality and inclusiveness. The statistics will be collected and managed by the Management and Operational Unit with the support of the Communication Unit at EPOS ERIC.

The current document represents a baseline for further developments. Additional objectives and measures for gender equality and/or other types of inclusiveness will be proposed annually based on available data.

2. EPOS ERIC Commitment to diversity, inclusiveness and gender equality

Within the scope of the Gender Equality Plan (GEP), it is crucial to recognize the broader principles of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI), which EPOS ERIC considers essential. EPOS ERIC is fully committed to creating a workplace that promotes diversity, and inclusivity, and supports the principles of equality. The organization actively seeks to attract and retain individuals from various cultural and societal backgrounds. EPOS ERIC believes in treating its colleagues and external partners with respect, regardless of factors such as gender, nationality, cultural background, abilities, religion, or sexual orientation. Any discrimination against employees and external parties based on one of those factors, or any comparable circumstance, will not be tolerated.

EPOS ERIC is committed to ensuring a safe, healthy, and accessible workplace, thus guaranteeing that everyone has an equal opportunity to participate in the community. The accessibility of its facilities and the opportunity to participate in decision-making are safeguarded by EPOS ERIC.

EPOS ERIC is fully committed to the implementation of the Gender Equality Plan in all aspects of the organisation to promote gender equality and diversity, enhance work-life balances and foster a respectful, open, and welcoming workplace culture. Furthermore, EPOS ERIC is committed to promoting gender equality and diversity in its activities to the EPOS Stakeholders.

Annex 1 – ECO Survey

An internal survey was conducted in September 2022, aimed at measuring experiences and perceptions of gender equality in EPOS ERIC. The survey addressed the five goal areas identified within the GEP.

The survey was sent to the EPOS ERIC Executive Coordination Office (ECO) staff. The ECO is organized into different units (or areas of activities) with specific commitments and personnel, some of whom are INGV personnel working as in-kind resources in EPOS ERIC. The ECO currently counts sixteen people including nine INGV employees. The ECO became operational in February 2019.

The anonymously collected data highlight the need to have the Gender Equality Plan in place, identifying goals and direct measures to promote and support gender equality. Furthermore, some comments and suggestions have been freely provided by the EPOS ERIC Executive Coordination Office (ECO) staff.

Considering the survey results, responses, and suggestions, as reported in the graphics below, the EPOS ERIC GEP is adapted to the current circumstances of EPOS ERIC and will be monitored and updated on an annual basis or when needed.

1. What is your gender identity?

11 responses

Gender Equality

2. In your opinion, is EPOS ERIC committed to gender equality?

11 responses

3. Are you aware of any actions, documents or policies supporting gender equality at EPOS ERIC?

11 responses

General comments:

EPOS ERIC actions, documents, or policies to support gender equality that have been identified by the respondents are as follows: EPOS ERIC Statutes, Implementing Rules, RRI policy Gender Equality Plan under discussion and preparation, EPOS ERIC privacy policy, EPOS ERIC call for vacancies, bargaining contracts and internal policies.

Promotion of gender equality

4. In your opinion, should EPOS ERIC further promote gender equality in its organizational culture? (i.e., employment contract, call for vacancies, policies)

11 responses

General comments:

The respondents suggested the improvement of gender equality in recruitment and career progression, avoiding stereotypes and strongly supporting the drafting and implementing of a Gender equality plan with effective actions in this regard.

Work-life balance and organizational culture

5. Are you satisfied with the current work-life balance arrangements EPOS ERIC offers?

11 responses

6. In your opinion, does EPOS ERIC offer enough flexibility in the way your work can be arranged?

11 responses

7. Have you ever experienced that EPOS ERIC discriminates on work-life balance based on gender?

11 responses

Gender balance in leadership and decision-making

8. Do you perceive that there is gender balance in EPOS ERIC senior leadership?

11 responses

11 responses

11. In your opinion, does EPOS ERIC provide sufficient training/mentoring opportunities to support career progression (e.g. courses, workshops, etc)?

11 responses

General comments:

Training and other career advancement opportunities should be promoted and offered to all members of the staff, according to their role in EPOS ERIC. More training for the ECO would strengthen the competencies and expertise of the staff and the matter should be addressed now as a part of the training plan which will be drafted to be implemented in 2023.

Integration of gender dimension into research content

12. In your opinion, does EPOS ERIC integrate the gender dimension into EU-funded projects in which it participates (e.g. foster and ensure gender... projects teams and decision-making processes)?

11 responses

Measures against gender-based violence

14. Do you think that EPOS ERIC should have a Code of Conduct in place, codifying the expected behavior of employees and in-kind contributors?

11 responses

15. Do you think that EPOS ERIC should have an Employee Harassment Complaint Procedure in place?

11 responses

16. Would you feel comfortable reporting any gender-based violence including sexual harassment at EPOS ERIC?

11 responses

General comments:

There is no reporting procedure to follow and there are no clear indications of how the process will be conducted or judged. This makes it more difficult for a complainant to be sure that actions will be taken and that there will be no consequences to their career. The suggestion is to implement confidential counsellor services.

17. In your opinion, is EPOS ERIC creating a suitable environment to prevent gender-based violence?

11 responses

Would you like to share anything else relevant to the subject of gender equality?

General comments:

A common understanding of "gender" is according to the European organizations and projects working in this area would be beneficial for the staff of EPOS.

Annex 2 – Diversity, Equity and Inclusive (DEI) language checklist for Job notices and internship opportunities in EPOS

Creating inclusive and gender-neutral job notices and internship opportunities is essential to attract a diverse pool of candidates, and therefore instrumental in creating a diverse and equitable workplace.

The following checklist is intended to help recruiters and communications professionals in EPOS to draft such texts:

1) Avoid Gendered Language:

- Replace gendered terms (e.g., "chairman") with gender-neutral alternatives (e.g., "chairperson,").

2) Use Gender-Neutral Titles:

- Address candidates with gender-neutral titles such as "applicant," "candidate," or "individual."

3) Use Inclusive Pronouns:

- Use gender-neutral pronouns such as "they/them" when referring to candidates.

4) Avoid Age Discrimination:

- Unless there are specific limitations connected to a particular programme (e.g. scholarships), avoid specifying age requirements or using phrases that could discourage older or younger applicants.

5) Use a Culturally-Sensitive Language:

- Use inclusive language that respects different cultures and backgrounds. Avoid idiomatic expressions or slang that might be unfamiliar or offensive.

6) UDisability-Inclusive Language:

- Use language that emphasises your commitment to providing accommodations and welcomes applicants with disabilities. Avoid ableist language.

7) Avoid Stereotypes:

- Eliminate stereotypes and assumptions about gender roles, abilities, and cultural backgrounds.

8) Use an Open and Welcoming Tone of voice:

- Ensure that the job notice communicates an inclusive and welcoming atmosphere.

9) Avoid Domain-Specific Jargon:

- Whenever possible, eliminate domain-specific jargon or acronyms that may be unfamiliar to some candidates.

10) Education and Experience:

- Whenever possible, focus on the qualifications and skills needed for the role, rather than number of years of experience. Avoid restricting participation to candidates with a specific educational background.

11) Highlight DEI Commitment:

- Mention your organisation's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in the job notice. Include an equal opportunity statement that encourages individuals from all backgrounds to apply.

12) Include Salary Ranges:

- Provide salary ranges to promote transparency and reduce wage gaps.

13) Contact Information for Inquiries:

- Provide contact information for candidates to ask questions or seek clarifications regarding the job opportunity.

14) Accessible Format:

- Make sure that the job notice complies with all accessibility provisions and guidelines, and can be optimally accessible to individuals with disabilities, such as using screen reader-friendly formats and fonts.

15) Sensitivity Review:

Have a diverse group of team members review the job notice for potential biases and insensitivity.

16) Check for Unconscious Bias:

- Be aware of unconscious bias when selecting descriptors for the role and its requirements. You can take implicit association tests to enhance your awareness about potential unconscious bias regarding a certain group
<https://implicit.harvard.edu/implicit/takeatest.html>

17) Test Language:

- Run the job notice through gender-neutral and inclusive language tools to identify potential issues. Some free tools to test your language against unconscious biases include:
 - gender-decoder.katmatfield.com
 - <https://www.totaljobs.com/insidejob/gender-bias-decoder/>
 - <https://textanalysis.beapplied.com/>

18) Feedback Loop:

- Encourage candidates to provide feedback on the job notice and recruitment process to continually improve inclusivity.

Remember that inclusive language is an ongoing practice, and it's important to stay updated on best practices and be open to evolving your approach to reflect a diverse and equitable workplace.

DEI Statements
